

The School Social

Transforming Readers to Leaders

I nt

The School Social

A global digital Children's/ Kids' Magazine company that is dedicated to making reading a choice, rather than a forced exercise. We strongly believe that reading is a habit that children need to pick early in their years to become better readers who can then transform into leaders.

BUILDING A HABIT OF READING EARLY IN THE YEARS

In these times when social media is the global connect and even the farthest thing is just a tweet away, what has increased more than ever is the always undermined: distraction. With the rise in the spread of free data, the craze of social media and too much noise in digital content, there has been a surge in our insecurities while handing over the digital screens to our young ones. Bringing positive en-gagement from across the globe, we help you enrich the experience of growing up and add value to the upcoming net-izens of the world, the generation-Z

Leaders

The organization runs under the leadership of a young enthusiastic edu-preneur, Ms. Radhika Sharma, who strives to transform the school social space and engage students positively. At the age of 23, she was perturbed by the odd effects of social media on young teens' emotional wellbeing and since then she has been working on using the same means to create a positive impact in a young student's world.
